

The Delaware Center for Neuroscience Research Presents

The Annual Delaware Neuroscience Research and Poster Symposium

Exciting talks!

9:30 am – 5:30 pm
December 14, 2017
Executive Banquet and Conference Center
205 Executive Drive, Newark, DE 19702

Prizes for best posters

This event is free, but registration is required register at www.delawareneuroscience.org

Seating is limited!

Serotonin and Autism Therapeutics: Insights from Human Mutations and Mouse Models	Randy Blakely, PhD Professor, Biomedical Science Florida Atlantic University Brain Institute
Surprising Origins of Sex Differences in the Brain	Margaret McCarthy, PhD Professor of Pharmacology University of Maryland School of Medicine
12:30 – 1:30	Networking Lunch
Neural mechanisms of visual-motor integration and the neural basis of cognition	Tirin Moore, PhD Professor of Neurobiology Center for Mind, Brain and Computation Stanford University
3:15 – 5:15	Poster session and judging of posters
Announcement of poster prize winners and 2017 Neuroscientist of the year

We gratefully acknowledge the support of our sponsors for this event:

- The NIH-Funded Delaware Center for Neuroscience Research (P20-GM103653)
- The Delaware Chapter of the Society for Neuroscience
- Delaware INBRE